Several years ago, Cameron Park community members came together in a series of public workshops and created a vision for Cameron Park called EnVision 2030. Since then, the County Board of Supervisors-appointed Cameron Park Design Review Committee has been working on distilling that vision into a set of design standards to guide future commercial and multi-family development in keeping with a community vision. The first of these is the Sign Standards.

Cameron Park Design Review Committee is pleased to announce the completion of the draft of the Cameron Park Sign Standards document for public review.

It has been a long time in the making. The Design Review Committee completed an earlier draft of design guidelines and was subsequently asked to put it on hold pending the completion of the El Dorado County Sign Ordinance which was approved by the Board of Supervisors in 2016. The revised Cameron Park Sign Standards seeks to highlight only the standards which differ from the County Ordinance but are in line with Cameron Park's community vision as outlined in EnVision 2030 and as expressed by members of the community.

The Cameron Park Design Review Committee listened to the community members who provided input through public workshops and County meetings, and incorporated that feedback into the proposed standards showing the type of signs acceptable to the community. The Design Review Committee will present the document for community input on Monday, February 13, 2017, at 6:30pm at the Cameron Park Community Center, 2502 Country Club Drive in Cameron Park. Physical copies of the Sign Standard document will be available at the meeting. Advance PDF copies are available via email by contacting Committee Chair, Vince Maloney, at vkmaloney@gmail.com

All interested parties are invited and encouraged to attend.
